Ok. I will work on it.

Are we in sinc about your presentation to the board Thursday ? You will have 15 minutes (or less if you desire), which means you will have to move through the power point at a rapid pace. I think the points which will interest people the most are the connections to DV and Lamar Avenue.

I cannot edit a PDF, so here are my suggestions:

1. Fix the category heading on Question 4 from Strongly Agree to Strongly Disagree;
2. Make the following Question 4:
4. Respond to the following statement:
I believe that law enforcement is biased and unfairly targets certain groups because (choose all that apply):
  - a. I have had a bad experience with law enforcement;
  - b. I have family members who have had bad experiences with law enforcement;
  - c. I have friends who have had bad experiences with law enforcement;
  - d. I have heard about people having bad experiences with law enforcement;
  - d. I do not believe law enforcement is biased or unfairly targets certain groups.

That's about the cleanest way to delve deeper into responses without asking a series of questions.

Thanks!

All,

That's a good point.

Survey Monkey can accommodate open ended responses, but I could create response options, which would be easier to analyze.

Not sure SurveyMonkey will accommodate an open ended question like that, but I will check.

On items under #4, it seems the respondent should have to explain why LE is biased, etc. and have the ability to detail the reason for any negative response. Maybe a why?

Director and Sheriff,

You will recall the new OSC plan has as one of its measureable outcomes improved community satisfaction with law enforcement. We agreed that, in order to get a baseline measurement, we needed to do a survey of citizens this year, then follow that up with additional surveys moving forward.

Attached you will find an INITIAL DRAFT of a survey. We want to make sure you are comfortable with any survey that is conducted. Please review the draft over the next week and let me know of any changes /additions/deletions you feel should be made.

The plan is to distribute the survey via SurveyMonkey through the county.

If I do not hear back from you by next Wednesday (a week from today), I will assume you are ok with the draft.
